This program is meant to be a guide to the ceremony. Although every effort has been made to ensure its accuracy, the program is not an official record of an individual's degree status. Please bring any errors or omissions to the attention of the Dean promptly. The university will endeavor to publish a correction in a subsequent program.

Dayna Bowen Matthew
*Dean and Harold H. Greene
Professor of Law*

I am overjoyed to celebrate this momentous day with you. I know that you and your loved ones have looked forward to this day for a long time. Yours is a very special class to me because we began our GW Law journeys together. We arrived at GW under the most extraordinary circumstances. We weathered a global pandemic, a cyber-attack, and political polarization to emerge to this day triumphantly. You inspired us all with your hard work, dedication, and resilience.

As a group, you are academically gifted, passionate, articulate, and service oriented. It has been my great privilege to serve as your Dean. You are leaving here as professionals with the power to protect the principles of justice, equality, liberty, and freedom, and we look to you to help build a better world for us all. Now it's time for you to craft your own pathway to practice—the options are limitless. The world's most pressing challenges require the problem-solving skills with which your study of the law has equipped you. I charge you, by paraphrasing John Wesley, to use those skills to do all the good in the world that you can, at all the times that you can, to all the people that you can, for as long as ever you can.

Today, you join GW Law's worldwide alumni community of 33,000 graduates, with whom you now share a transformative experience. You will find among the GW Law alumni network a vast number of preeminent leaders in all sectors of the economy and society—across the United States and around the globe. I encourage you to take advantage of this unique and powerful gift of belonging and make your fellow alumni a part of your journey for the rest of your professional lives.

Please keep in touch and come back and visit us often. We cannot wait to see your future achievements. Congratulations again on reaching this significant milestone and my very best wishes to each of you for good health, great happiness, and many successes.

Sincerely,

Faculty Marshals: Scott B. Pagel; Alfreda Robinson, JD '78; and Joan E. Schaffner

The Dean and faculty of the law school suggest that the graduates reunite with their families and friends in Kogan Plaza immediately following the ceremony.

*Ms. Coates' Commencement Address is supported by The Susan N. and Augustus diZerega, Jr., Lectureship Fund.
Mr. Thomas diZerega, JD '56, established the fund in 1990 in honor of his parents' interest in education.*

Degrees noted are those earned at the George Washington University.

*Laura Coates,
CNN Host and
Senior Legal Analyst*

My heartfelt congratulations to this year's George Washington University Law School graduating class. I am supremely honored to have been invited to join the law school's president, administration, faculty, families, friends, student body, and supporters to recognize your amazing accomplishment.

From the day you first opened your eyes, none of us could possibly have predicted what it would take to acquire the education and the tools needed to realize your dreams. Your focus has been unparalleled; your persistence and resilience are now on full display. Just look around; you are surrounded by those who took on their own challenges and trials and have arrived together with you in this esteemed place on this special day.

I need not tell you that between that first day of school and now, there are so many paths you could have followed. Some were perhaps unproductive, others perhaps fulfilling. But you correctly chose a path laid with integrity, honor, and the hope of fairness. You have chosen the law as your supreme guide. To paraphrase the poet Robert Frost, you have taken the road less traveled and THAT—and I know YOU—will make all the difference.

I clearly remember the first and last days of my law school education. I entered thinking I knew what it meant to be a law student. I subsequently graduated thinking I knew exactly what a lawyer was. Life would confirm, disprove, reaffirm, and evolve those thoughts along the way. In some ways, your education has now begun, and the practice of law will be your vehicle to apprehend the enormity of the world and your own corner of civilization. The skills, perspective, intellectual curiosity, and objectivity your degree represents will collectively be the greatest asset you have to navigate this world. Each of you will pursue justice uniquely. Just as the paths that led each of you here varied, your paths forward will not be identical. Embrace the connective tissue nonetheless. Whether you realize it, you will forevermore be on the same side.

And so, I applaud you today, Class of 2023, for the choices you made that led you to this moment in time. I join your parents and all those present in celebrating your education, your effort and your accomplishment. Let the dear and hard-earned degree you receive today be a map that leads you to a place of sustained honor and a continued belief in a society where the preeminence of laws that protect and serve all people defines who we are and aspire to be. May you catch the justice you pursue, and let the wind be at your backs as you follow your own North Star.

Laura Coates is a host and Senior Legal Analyst on CNN, as well as a constitutional expert, author, and former adjunct professor at GW Law. A former federal prosecutor, Ms. Coates served as Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia, as well as a trial attorney in the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, specializing in the enforcement of voting rights throughout the United States. As a civil rights attorney, she traveled throughout the United States supervising local and national elections and led investigations into allegations of unconstitutional voting practices. In private practice, Ms. Coates was an intellectual property litigator with expertise in First Amendment and media law. She is the bestselling author of You Have the Right: A Constitutional Guide to Policing the Police.

Ms. Coates is the host of the daily eponymous show on SiriusXM, The Laura Coates Show, which broadcasts live from 3 to 6 p.m. (ET) on the bipartisan P.O.T.U.S. channel, features her lively analysis of the trending news of the day and impactful interviews with entertainers, politicians, D.C. insiders, and game changers on the topics of politics, pop culture and everything in between. She also has hosted a series of true crime specials for the Oxygen network.

Ms. Coates is a graduate of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and the University of Minnesota Law School.

The George Washington University Law School, the oldest law school in the District of Columbia, was established in 1865 with a formal program of two years of study. This was largely through the efforts of the Reverend Whitefield Samson, President of Columbian College, whose action resulted in the purchase of a separate building for holding law classes. The building had belonged to Trinity Church, of which Francis Scott Key had been senior warden. It was occupied by the law school until 1884.

Sixty graduates, from 22 of the then 37 states, received degrees in 1867. The school continued to have a student body and a faculty that reflected the fact that it was at the seat of our nation's government. Supreme Court Justices David J. Brewer and John Marshall Harlan were among the prominent members of the bench and bar who were on the faculty.

In 1877, one year after the first such program was adopted in the United States, the law school instituted a course leading to the degree of master of laws. In 1898, the course of instruction for the degree of bachelor of laws was extended to three years. The law school took part in 1900 in the organization of the Association of American Law Schools.

Over the past century, the law school has expanded its course and seminar offerings with consideration of the needs of first-degree and graduate students. The degree of doctor of juridical science was instituted in 1940. In 1946, the law school began accepting foreign attorneys into specially designated programs. Today, lawyers from the United States and abroad are accepted into the master of laws program.

In 1954, the National University School of Law, which had held an important place in legal education in the District of Columbia since 1869, was absorbed by the George Washington University Law School.

Since 1954, special programs of advanced study have enriched the basic curriculum. At present these include business and finance law; environmental and energy law; intellectual property law; international and comparative law; government procurement law; litigation and dispute resolution; national security and cybersecurity law; and national security and U.S. foreign relations law. These special programs reflect the breadth in public law for which the law school is well known. Additionally, a clinical law program has been developed that is the equal of that at any law school in the nation.

The law school has a total enrollment of approximately 2,000 students. Approximately 1,400 students are in the full-time division for the JD degree and 300 are enrolled in the part-time division. Three hundred students, representing 49 countries, are enrolled in graduate law degree programs.
