NOTES .....24

This program is meant to be a guide to the ceremony. Although every effort has been made to ensure its accuracy, the program is not an official record of an individual's degree status. Please bring any errors or omissions to the attention of the Dean promptly. The university will endeavor to publish a correction in a subsequent program.

Dayna Bowen Matthew
*Dean and Harold H. Greene
 Professor of Law*

I am overjoyed to celebrate this momentous day with you. After two years of Commencement ceremonies on our computer screens, we are finally back together in person. I know that you and your loved ones have looked forward to this day for a long time. Your GW Law journey took place under the most extraordinary circumstances, and you weathered a global pandemic to emerge to this day triumphantly, inspiring us all with your hard work, dedication, and resilience.

As a group, you are academically gifted, passionate, articulate, and service oriented. It has been my great privilege to serve as your Dean. You are leaving here as professionals who are engaged, analytical, and thoughtful about the law. Now it's time for you to craft your own pathway to practice — the options are limitless. The world's most pressing challenges need the problem-solving skills that your study of the law has equipped you to bring. You have shown by the impressive number of hours of pro bono work your class has contributed that you are dedicated to working for the greater good and building a better world for us all. There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that you are going to do just that.

Today, you join GW Law's worldwide alumni community of 33,000 graduates, with whom you have shared a transformative experience. You will find among the GW Law alumni network a vast number of preeminent leaders in all sectors of the economy across the United States and around the globe. I encourage you to take advantage of this unique and powerful gift of belonging—make your fellow alumni a part of your journey for the rest of your professional lives.

Please keep in touch and come back and visit us often. Your time at GW Law has prepared you to impact the world, and we can't wait to see your future achievements. Congratulations again on reaching this significant milestone and my very best wishes to each of you for good health, great happiness, and many successes.

Sincerely,

Dayna Bowen Matthew

Faculty Marshals: Scott B. Pagel; Alfreda Robinson, JD '78; and Joan E. Schaffner

The Dean and faculty of the law school suggest that the graduates reunite with their families and friends in Kogan Plaza immediately following the ceremony.

Representative Wild's Commencement Address is supported by The Susan N. and Augustus diZerega, Jr., Lectureship Fund. Mr. Thomas diZerega, JD '56, established the fund in 1990 in honor of his parents' interest in education.

Degrees noted are those earned at the George Washington University.

*Susan Ellis Wild, JD '82
U.S. House of Representatives
(D-PA)*

Congratulations, graduates! You sit here today having accomplished something that few people do: a Juris Doctor. I hope you take this moment to celebrate and to fan yourself with adulation, praise, and joy.

As you embark on your careers, and especially as you prepare for the bar exam, many will seek to reassure you and encourage you, and likely already have. Your family, your friends, your fellow students. But remember to also look for—and accept—praise from your harshest critic: yourself. All of you are high achievers. You wouldn't be sitting here today if you weren't. But with such extraordinary achievement often comes a little bit of stress, perhaps some anxiety (you may know it as "imposter syndrome").

Be wary and skeptical of that inner judgmental self. Don't allow it to run or ruin your life. The tradeoff of being highly accomplished lawyers is that you may at times think you're not quite good enough. Don't buy into it. Resist your inner doubtful self as strongly as you would resist an outsider who is downright cruel or irrational.

You've got this. You will face times in the coming years where the most important thing in your life may seem to be a deadline. Or the approval of a partner. Or a client, or a judge. I come to you today, myself a former law firm partner, to say: it never is. It always is your happiness and health. Believe in yourself. Find people you trust. Open up to them. Share your doubts, your questions, your dreams. Remember that our country and this world are better places for having you in it.

Finally, find peace and happiness for yourself. You deserve it.

Well done, my fellow alumni. With great pride in you, I am

Your Friend and Fellow Graduate,

Congresswoman Susan Ellis Wild (D-PA), the U.S. Representative for Pennsylvania's seventh Congressional District, was elected to Congress for the first time in November 2018, was a member of the largest class of freshman women (36) to enter the U.S. House of Representatives, and is the first woman to go to Congress from her district in Pennsylvania.

A respected leader in Congress, Representative Wild serves on the House Foreign Affairs Committee; the House Education and Labor Committee; the House Ethics Committee; and the House Science, Space, and Technology Committee. In addition to her committee work, she is a Vice Chair of the Labor Caucus and a Co-Chair of the Climate Change Taskforce in the New Democrat Coalition.

An advocate for expanding access to mental health care and suicide prevention initiatives, she has co-sponsored several significant bills, including the Dr. Lorna Breen Health Care Provider Protection Act, which President Biden recently signed into law. The bipartisan legislation, which addresses the trauma of working on the frontlines of the pandemic, supports mental health resources and treatment for health care workers.

Earlier this year, she introduced a bipartisan bill to improve the quality of service provided by the IRS, the Better Service for Taxpayers Act. Last year, in the wake of the January 6th attacks, she co-sponsored the Capitol Remembrance Act, a bill to install a permanent memorial exhibit in the U.S. Capitol.

Congresswoman Wild is known for working across the aisle with both Democratic and Republican colleagues and was independently rated as one of the most bipartisan members of Congress by the Lugar Center. Of the bills she has introduced and cosponsored, 77 percent are bipartisan.

Prior to winning her U.S. Congressional seat, she served as the first female City Solicitor of Allentown, Pennsylvania. She worked as a litigator (specializing in civil litigation and alternative dispute resolution) for more than 35 years in Allentown and became a partner at Gross McGinley in 1999. She represented health care practitioners and hospitals as well as municipalities and public officials in all forms of litigation matters.

A 1982 graduate of GW Law, she is also the mother of GW Law graduate Clay Wild, JD '20.

The George Washington University Law School, the oldest law school in the District of Columbia, was established in 1865 with a formal program of two years of study. This was largely through the efforts of the Reverend Whitefield Samson, President of Columbian College, whose action resulted in the purchase of a separate building for holding law classes. The building had belonged to Trinity Church, of which Francis Scott Key had been senior warden. It was occupied by the law school until 1884.

Sixty graduates, from 22 of the then 37 states, received degrees in 1867. The school continued to have a student body and a faculty that reflected the fact that it was at the seat of our nation's government. Supreme Court Justices David J. Brewer and John Marshall Harlan were among the prominent members of the bench and bar who were on the faculty.

In 1877, one year after the first such program was adopted in the United States, the law school instituted a course leading to the degree of master of laws. In 1898, the course of instruction for the degree of bachelor of laws was extended to three years. The law school took part in 1900 in the organization of the Association of American Law Schools.

Over the past century, the law school has expanded its course and seminar offerings with consideration of the needs of first-degree and graduate students. The degree of doctor of juridical science was instituted in 1940. In 1946, the law school began accepting foreign attorneys into specially designated programs. Today, lawyers from the United States and abroad are accepted into the master of laws program.

In 1954, the National University School of Law, which had held an important place in legal education in the District of Columbia since 1869, was absorbed by the George Washington University Law School.

Since 1954, special programs of advanced study have enriched the basic curriculum. At present these include business and finance law; environmental and energy law; intellectual property law; international and comparative law; government procurement law; litigation and dispute resolution; national security and cybersecurity law; and national security and U.S. foreign relations law. These special programs reflect the breadth in public law for which the law school is well known. Additionally, a clinical law program has been developed that is the equal of that at any law school in the nation.

The law school has a total enrollment of approximately 2,000 students. Approximately 1,400 students are in the full-time division for the JD degree and 300 are enrolled in the part-time division. Three hundred students, representing 49 countries, are enrolled in graduate law degree programs.
